 TRIAL CAMPAIGN — NOT SUBMITTED TO THE BRAND

This is a trial / practice campaign created for portfolio and skill-demonstration purposes only. It was not submitted to, commissioned by, or shared with OKHTEIN or any affiliated brand.

Note: brand fields not fully specified in the brief were completed with realistic assumptions for a multi-category Egyptian e-commerce brand. Ad benchmarks are illustrative, modeled on typical Meta Ads Manager ranges for Egypt.

Where Okhtein Stands Today

MARKET OVERVIEW

- Egypt's accessible-luxury accessories market is expanding fast, driven by upper-middle-class and Gulf-adjacent consumers.
- "Made in Egypt" storytelling is now a purchase driver, amplified by celebrity placements (Gigi Hadid, Emma Watson, Kris Jenner).
- Social commerce (IG Shop, TikTok Shop, WhatsApp) is the primary discovery-to-purchase path for shoppers aged 22–40.

CURRENT DIGITAL STATUS

Strengths

442K+ Instagram followers, strong editorial & celebrity PR, distinctive heritage-led visual identity, presence on Ounass and international stockists.

Weaknesses

Content skews toward product-on-celebrity shots; limited BTS/founder/UGC content. TikTok underdeveloped vs Instagram. Thin lower-funnel conversion content.

Competitive Landscape

Okhtein

Egyptian heritage reimagined as global luxury; celebrity-led PR, editorial storytelling.

Imported-luxury multi-brand boutiques

Traditional luxury-import positioning; less local-heritage narrative.

Local artisanal leather labels (e.g. Tayi)

Value-driven "local pride" positioning, lower price point, less international polish.

SWOT Analysis

STRENGTHS

- Strong heritage-luxury brand story
- Global celebrity endorsement (organic)
- 442K+ Instagram following

WEAKNESSES

- TikTok under-leveraged vs Instagram
- Limited UGC / community content
- Thin lower-funnel conversion content

OPPORTUNITIES

- TikTok Shop + Reels-first growth in MENA
- Rising Gulf demand for Egyptian-made luxury
- Collaborations with Egyptian creators

THREATS

- Rising Meta ad costs across MENA
- Counterfeit / imitation products
- New accessible-luxury entrants

AUDIENCE

Who We're Talking To

PRIMARY AUDIENCE

Women aged 24–40 in Cairo, Alexandria, the GCC (UAE, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait), and the Egyptian diaspora abroad. Upper-middle to affluent income. Values craftsmanship, cultural identity, and pieces with a story over logo-driven luxury.

F

Farida, 29 — Cairo

BUYER PERSONA

Marketing manager. Shops local and international luxury. Follows Okhtein for red-carpet moments; buys 1–2 statement pieces a year for weddings/events. Discovers via Explore and influencer tags.

N

Noor, 34 — Dubai

BUYER PERSONA

Egyptian expat who gifts Okhtein pieces to represent her heritage in Gulf circles. Higher spend per purchase; converts via DMs/WhatsApp after seeing Reels. Values fast shipping and packaging.

Five Content Pillars

Tone: warm, confident, rooted — a proud storyteller of Egyptian craft. Language: English primary; Egyptian Arabic for cultural moments & Reels voiceovers.

3-Month Roadmap

MONTH 1

Foundation

Launch the 30-day campaign; establish content pillars; publish 2x weekly TikTok Reels; always-on retargeting.

MONTH 2

Scale & Community

Micro-influencer seeding (8–10 creators); UGC hashtag challenge; expand budget toward top-performing audiences.

MONTH 3

Optimize & Diversify

Test TikTok Shop & IG Shop checkout; launch a seasonal capsule; full-funnel review and budget reallocation.

Portfolio Case Study Summary

- A 30-day social-first campaign concept for Okhtein, the Egyptian luxury accessories house, designed to close the brand's TikTok gap and strengthen its lower-funnel conversion path.
- The strategy leans into Okhtein's strongest asset — heritage-rooted craftsmanship — through a five-pillar content system, a 14-day content calendar, and a phased Meta Ads funnel across a $1,000 simulated budget.
- Deliverables include SWOT and SMART-objective frameworks, two buyer personas, a full ads structure with benchmarked estimates, and a 3-month roadmap — presented here as unsolicited spec work for portfolio purposes.
